

First box will be a div containing both a picture and a heading, using grid to insert the heading inside the image

The next div will be a introduction textbox,using grid elements to place it next to the image.

The next two divs will both be paragraphs with headins, changing colors after each paragraph.

