

Header, use heading, nav, and unordered list separate div for this box of text

separate div for this box of text

separate div for this box of text

separate div for this box of text

separate div for this box of text

footer, with each text box as a different div a paragraph and an image, use flex within one section to separate them create a section with three separate divs, using grid to place these three text boxes an article containing all these images, divided out using grid

an article containing all these images, divided out using grid

one div containing three separate paragraphs, al for these boxes different colored section, containing text box